Deep-water system: penetration of heat into marine sediments beneath 1000 metres of water

Shallow-water system: penetration of heat into marine sediments beneath 320 metres of water

